```
int counter;
int start;
int max;
                                      int max;
init {
                                      int start;
  counter = start;
                                     work push 1 pop 1{
                                        int counter =
                                          iter() % (max - start)
work push 1 pop 1{
                                            + start;
  counter = (counter + 1);
  if (counter > max) {
    counter = start;
```